"BEYOND RECOGNITION BY RIDLEY PEARSON, READ BY MICHAEL MITCHELL: A homicidal arsonist is loose in Seattle. Single mothers are being killed in fires that burn hotter than experts have ever seen. The children, however, are spared. Why? For Seattle Police Sergeant Lou Boldt and the department's psychologist, Daphne Matthew, the fuel used in these deadly fires is as much a mystery as the identity of the arsonist who sets them. A twelve-year-old boy, caught in an ugly battle at home, unintentionally witnesses a transaction involving the alleged arsonist. Did the boy see the killer's face? Based on two years of research that included interviews with fire fighters, tours of secret government labs, and the help of an Apollo astronaut. BEYOND RECOGNITION combines Ridley Pearson's signature use of high-tech forensics with breathless pacing and complex characters. The result is scorching entertainment. "A must-read for thriller fans." (Chicago Tribune Book Review) [from case]
